WATCH ON THE RHINE

Director Lillian Hellman's Watch on the Rhine (1942) allowed moviegoers to experience through one American family the threat of fascism that was moving across Europe at the time. Starring Bette Davis, Paul Lukas, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Lucille Watson, and Beulah Bondi, each character in the film is today a recognizable "type," some concerned about the problem, others not. Join film aficionado Jim Rooney for an exploration of the film, which won three Academy awards. The presentation is scheduled 1-3:30 p.m.
