Brendan Sullivan

Brendan Sullivan is a novelist, improvisational actor and creativity coach, helping organizational teams and individuals to be more innovative and creative. His clients include Kellogg's, McDonald's, Bristol-Myers Squibb, Jenny Craig, Marriott Hotels, and many other Fortune 500 companies.

Brendan has co-authored "The Living Wills," a novel published last December, that Rick Kogan of the Chicago Tribune calls "rollicking and real on so many levels." Windy City Reviews says the novel is "a pleasure to read for Sullivan and Kaempfer's deft characterization and effective structural choices."

Brendan is a graduate of the Second City Conservatory and has performed improv professionally in Chicago and around the country with his award-winning improv group "Blue Velveeta." He also was creative producer for a decade for the Jonathon Brandmeier morning radio show on WLUP and WCKG -FM.
