Prior Learning Assessment

Introduction

To advance innovative learning opportunities, Connecting What Matters, Oakton’s strategic plan for 2013-2017, identifies prior learning assessment (PLA) as an area of focus: “increase opportunities to earn Oakton credit by invigorating credit for prior learning...opportunities.” To this end, the Academic Council and, subsequently, a Prior Learning Assessment Team, reviewed current practices at Oakton; principles, policies, and procedure guidelines set forth by the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL); and model programs at “best practice” institutions as identified by CAEL. The PLA Team also reviewed Oakton forms and procedures currently in use for the awarding of credit via PLA and services provided by CAEL. The Team presented a draft proposal to the Faculty Senate on November 13 and to the Council of Chairs and Coordinators (COCAC) on November 26, responded to questions and invited additional feedback through November 29. A copy of the Power Point used in the presentation is provided in Appendix A. The Academic Council also discussed the draft proposal.

This PLA Team proposal is based on this work as well as considerations about the Oakton culture and critical role of Oakton faculty in prior learning assessment. The proposal addresses all avenues by which students might earn credit for learning obtained outside of Oakton courses or the transfer of credits from other colleges and universities. Because portfolio assessment is both new to Oakton and more complex than other PLA approaches, the proposal provides more detail on portfolio assessment than other PLA approaches.

Over the past years, Oakton has begun to develop more systematic ways to respond to students’ requests for prior learning credit. During that time, the majority of requests have come from Law Enforcement students seeking to accelerate completion of their associate’s degree for entry into a baccalaureate program and/or to become eligible for promotion within their police departments. From October, 2010, through June, 2012, 15 students participated in prior learning assessment intake advising. Of these, seven completed and submitted portfolios for review by Oakton faculty in the Law Enforcement department. A total of 96 credits were awarded, ranging from 6 to 27 per student.

Overview

Key Terms

For purposes of both this proposal and subsequent work in prior learning assessment at Oakton, we have adopted this terminology:

- Prior learning assessment (PLA) refers to all avenues through which students might earn credit by presenting acceptable evidence of learning outside of Oakton courses or the transfer of credits from other colleges and universities. The evidence must demonstrate the student has the knowledge, skills and behaviors expected of students who successfully complete the Oakton course for which prior learning credit is awarded.

- Portfolio assessment refers to a specific approach to awarding credit for prior learning. Students present a portfolio that contains artifacts that demonstrate they have the knowledge, skills and behaviors expected of students who successfully complete the Oakton course for which prior learning credit is awarded. Faculty members who are both knowledgeable about the discipline and trained to perform portfolio assessment assess the portfolio to determine whether it demonstrates the student has the requisite knowledge, skills and behavior.

- Credit for prior learning. Credit is awarded for learning, as assessed through evidence. It is not awarded for experience or activities.

Educational Philosophy and Principles Regarding PLA

We recommend that Oakton take an active rather than a passive stance with regard to PLA and ensure that students are made aware of PLA as a valid educational option and provided an appropriate level of support to participate in the PLA process. This will require the College to provide comprehensive information about PLA on the website and through print materials. Further, it will require that outreach and advising staff provide basic information regarding PLA to interested students and provide initial screening for PLA for students; we expect PLA will be of most interest and be most appropriate for adult students. The College will also provide more specific information about portfolio preparation for students seeking credit through this approach.

Key principles of PLA at Oakton are:

- Decisions about the awarding of credit for prior learning rest with the faculty in the discipline. They determine whether or not to accept standardized tests as evidence of learning, and what scores must be obtained on these tests; they assess portfolio or other evidence of learning. The one exception to this is that so long as Oakton participates in the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL) Learning Counts program, the College is obliged to accept credit through this program.

- The College is not obliged to award credit if the evidence of learning does not demonstrate the student has the knowledge, skills and behaviors expected of students who successfully complete the course for which credit is sought.

- The PLA program is housed within Academic Affairs, and includes collaboration between Academic and Student Affairs in its design, implementation and evaluation. Support from Information Technology and Accounting Services will also be required.
• Preparation and delivery of PLA workshops for students and PLA faculty assessor training will be done by Oakton personnel or consultants hired by the College, and not outsourced to another agency such as CAEL. This will ensure that contents and processes align with Oakton’s policies and culture.

CAEL Standards and this Oakton Proposal

In developing this proposal, the PLA Team has used standards of good practice provided by the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL), which has provided leadership and quality assurance in PLA for nearly forty years. The CAEL standards are provided in Appendix B.

Oakton’s Relationship with CAEL

Oakton had a relationship with CAEL and learned a good deal about the assessment of prior learning, especially using portfolios, through CAEL. Oakton was a partner with CAEL in Learning Counts, an initiative to create centralized prior learning assessment services through CAEL. Oakton withdrew from CAEL in X in order to focus on Oakton specific procedures for portfolio assessment.

Recommendations

The PLA Team submitted the following recommendations for implementing a PLA Program at Oakton. Recommendations 1 – 9 relate to credit for prior learning in general. Recommendations 9-16 relate to credit through portfolio assessment specifically.

Recommendations related to credit for prior learning in general

1. Affirm the existing general policy regarding credit for prior learning:

A student who has been officially accepted as an Oakton student and who has earned at least six credits at the College with a grade of “C” or better may apply credits for prior learning for no more than one-half of his or her academic program required for the certificate or associate degree being sought at Oakton Community College. Equivalency credits will be posted on the student’s transcript with the Oakton course prefix and number for which such equivalency credit is granted, and with a notation that such credits were earned through proficiency.

A fee for assessing credit for prior learning may be levied, and if credit is awarded, tuition and/or other related fees may be charged.

Other colleges and universities may not accept credit awarded by Oakton for prior learning. Some academic programs may require grades of “A” or “B” in specific courses required for certificate or degree completion.
2. Continue to award credit for prior learning experience through existing approaches:
   a. Advanced Placement Credit (AP)
   b. College Level Examination Program (CLEP)
   c. United States Armed Forces Credit
      i. Service Credit for Health and Physical Education
      ii. United States Armed Forces Institute Credit
      iii. Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support (DANTES) examinations
   d. Credits earned at a non-regionally accredited or non-recognized institution
   e. College-approved proficiency examinations
   f. Credit for previous foreign-language learning
   g. Credit for previous high school courses
   h. Credit through American Council on Education/College Credit Recommendation Service (ACE/CCRS)
      i. Credit for completion of approved apprenticeship on-the-job training experiences in fields in which the College offers a curriculum; such proficiency credits are applicable only to the specific program(s) to which these credits relate.
      j. Credit for experiential learning (but we recommend clarifying what this means, not using the term ‘experiential learning’ and revising the definition – see 4.a - 4.c.).

3. Create new approaches to award credit for prior learning:
   a. Credit through Oakton faculty affirming that successful completion of a higher level course in a sequence demonstrates the student has acquired the knowledge, skill and behavior commensurate with successful completion (grades of A, B or C) of the lower level course in the sequence. (Note: this approach is currently in effect but is not explicitly spelled out).
   b. Credit through Oakton faculty affirming the student has knowledge and skills of an Oakton course or courses through the awarding of a bachelor's degree from an institution that does not require a course comparable to the Oakton course or the awarding of proficiency credit by another institution. (Needs final approval. Oakton’s current policy does not accept proficiency credit from another institution).
   c. Credit through proficiency as determined through ROADMath, Oakton’s developmental math courses.
   d. Credit through Oakton faculty affirming that learning from non-credit courses, continuing education, professional training, licensing or similar learning alternatives demonstrates the student has acquired the knowledge, skill and behavior commensurate with successful completion (grades of A, B or C) of an Oakton course or courses.
   e. Credit through portfolio assessment by Oakton faculty (Note: This approach is currently in effect but is not well developed, organized or implemented in a systematic manner).

4. Encourage all programs/departments to review courses to determine the potential for awarding credit through prior learning assessment, using one or more of the approaches noted above.

5. Revise and use a common format, as much as possible, for all forms related to awarding credit for prior learning. This may include sign-off by dean of the division(s) in which credit is being awarded.
   See Appendix C for draft forms.
6. Create appropriate information regarding PLA at Oakton (e.g., a page(s) on the Oakton website, brochure for external audiences, information for Oakton personnel including faculty, advisors, etc.). Asst. VP for Academic Affairs takes the lead on this, working with College Advancement, Advising Services, and the PLA Team.

7. Adopt the following fee schedule, to be reviewed and affirmed or adjusted by the President’s Council at least bi-annually. The Portfolio Assessment activities are explained later in the proposal. We note that the recommendation for Testing Center fees is a recommendation to the Student Services, specifically the Director of Student Learning & Engagement of Student Success, who is the Learning Center administrator (the Testing Center is part of the Learning Center). The PLA Team researched fees and discovered different fees are charged for different tests. We believe the fee structure should be the same as we could discover no rationale for the differing fees.

8. Create Banner codes to permit more careful tracking of revenue generated from prior learning assessment, including fees for taking tests in the Testing Center, the Portfolio Preparation Workshop, portfolio assessment fees, the administrative fee for each credit awarded, etc.

Recommendations related to credit through portfolio assessment specifically

9. Assign the Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs the responsibility for implementing portfolio assessment in collaboration with others in Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, Information Technology and Accounting Services.

10. Design, prepare materials for, and deliver two workshops for students interested in portfolio assessment.

   - Overview – required one-hour workshop for all students interested in portfolio assessment. They must participate before being permitted to submit a portfolio or take the portfolio preparation workshop. No fee.

   - Portfolio Preparation – optional non-credit workshop of approximately 20 contact hours to teach students how to prepare portfolio and have them actually create a portfolio. Optional except Asst. VP may require the workshop for students who have submitted portfolios that are of such poor quality that student will not be permitted to submit a new portfolio before participating in the workshop. Fee includes assessment of one portfolio. The rationale for the fee is that it includes the workshop and assessment of one portfolio, and is at an amount that conveys seriousness of both the workshop and of the students within it. $100 fee recommended.

11. Design, prepare materials for, and deliver a training workshop for faculty assessors. Faculty assessors, full and part-time faculty, must successfully complete the workshop before assessing portfolios. Part-time faculty must be recommended by their department chairs. Part-time faculty will be compensated in accordance with Adjunct Faculty Association negotiated agreement. Anticipate the workshop will be approximately six hours.

12. Assessors will be compensated the full-time faculty substitute pay rate for each course for which a student is seeking credit through portfolio assessment. The same compensation will be used for full and part-time faculty assessors. For example, if the substitute pay rate is $35/hour, the faculty assessor will be paid $35 for each course, regardless of the course credit hours. A faculty member assessing a portfolio for which a student is seeking credit in two courses will be paid two-times the substitute pay rate, etc. If more than one faculty assessor is needed to assess a portfolio, each person will be paid for the specific course for which he or she is assessing the evidence of learning.

13. The portfolio assessment was launched with specific focus on five CTE programs: Computer Information Systems, Fire Science, Graphic Design, Human Services, and Law Enforcement. The rationale was that these programs have large enrollments, include all four divisions, and have a number of skill-based courses.
14. Specific recommendations regarding the portfolio, which is a compilation of evidence that the student has the knowledge, skills and behaviors of students who have successfully completed (grades of A, B, C) the course(s) for which credit is sought, include:

- A portfolio is a compilation of evidence in a specific discipline. Evidence may relate to one or more Oakton courses within the discipline. A student seeking credit for courses in more than one discipline must submit a separate portfolio for each discipline.
- A fee of $50 for the assessment of each portfolio will be charged regardless of the number of courses within the discipline for which the student is seeking credit. The portfolio preparation workshop fee includes assessment of one portfolio.
- Student must identify the Oakton course(s) for which credit is being sought.
- Assessments will be done by faculty in the discipline who have successfully completed the faculty assessor workshop. More than one faculty member in the discipline may assess a single portfolio if their course-specific expertise is needed.
- Faculty assessors may require meetings with students to discuss portfolios.
- Faculty may determine the portfolio provides evidence of learning in additional or other courses in the discipline beyond the one(s) identified by the student submitting the portfolio.
- The faculty assessor(s) will provide feedback to the student regarding the adequacy and quality of evidence presented in the portfolio. The feedback must be in writing and is intended to provide guidance to students whose evidence is not adequate to demonstrate learning as well as affirmation of excellent evidence.

15. Portfolio resubmissions. A student who does not receive credit for the course(s) for which the portfolio was assessed may resubmit the portfolio one time for no additional fee. The student may have received credit for some courses and resubmit only for the courses for which credit was not approved. The resubmission must take place within three months of the date the original portfolio was returned to the student. A portfolio resubmitted after this period will be considered a new portfolio and the portfolio assessment fee will be charged.
Portfolio Assessment Process for Student

The process a student would follow to obtain credit through portfolio assessment is depicted in the following schematic.

Process for Portfolio Assessment

- Student pursues academic advising or meets with program/department chair
  - Advisor or chair provides basic information / screens for portfolio assessment (e.g., does student seem viable candidate, work experience, etc.). Is there potential?
  - End of portfolio assessment
  - Required Portfolio Assessment Overview
  - End of portfolio assessment
- Student meets with portfolio assessment advisor (to be determined), who explains portfolio assessment and determines interest; advisor consults with chairs as appropriate to determine if student’s prior learning is relevant (chair provides advice but cannot stop student from submitting portfolio).
  - End of portfolio assessment
- Student does not prepare portfolio. End of portfolio assessment
- Student prepares portfolio
  - Student prepares portfolio
  - Student does not prepare portfolio. End of portfolio assessment
  - Student prepares portfolio
  - Student does not prepare revised portfolio. End of portfolio assessment
  - Student submits revised portfolio. One revision per portfolio is permitted.
  - Asst. Vice President submits portfolio to faculty assessor – assessor may require meeting with student to discuss portfolio
  - Faculty assessor sends credit recommendation to Asst. Vice President
  - Portfolio returned to Asst. Vice President and then to student for revision / resubmission
  - Credit awarded; Asst. Vice President informs Registration Services; student pays administrative fee for awarding credit
  - Portfolio returned to Asst. Vice President and then to student for revision / resubmission
  - Student does not prepare revised portfolio. End of portfolio assessment
The PLA Team recommended the following timeline for implementing a revised credit for prior learning program and portfolio assessment in particular. Because portfolio assessment is both new and more complicated than other forms of credit for prior learning, the timeline devotes more detail to this approach.

Power Point Presented to Faculty Senate and COCAC – November 2012

A Proposal for the Assessment of Prior Learning, November 2012

Overview

Prior learning assessment (PLA), refers to all avenues through which students might earn credit by presenting acceptable evidence of learning outside of Oakton courses or the transfer of credits from other colleges and universities.

Key Terms

Portfolio assessment, refers to a specific approach to awarding credit for prior learning.
Students present a portfolio that demonstrates they have the knowledge, skills and behaviors expected of students who successfully complete the Oakton course for which prior learning credit is awarded.

Key Terms

Credit for prior learning, is awarded for learning, as assessed through evidence - credit is not awarded for experience or activities.

Principles of PLA at Oakton

- Decisions about awarding credit rest with the faculty in the discipline
- Oakton is not obliged to award credit
- The PLA program is housed within Academic Affairs
- Preparation and delivery of PLA workshops for students and faculty assessors will be done by Oakton personnel and not outsourced

Recommendations (General)
Recommendations 1-6, relate to credit for prior learning in general, pages 3-4 in proposal

1) Affirm existing general policies
A student who has earned at least six credits at Oakton with a grade of “C” or better may apply credits for prior learning. Credit for prior learning can be used for no more than one-half of his or her academic program...

2) Continue to award credit through existing approaches
Recommendations (General)

3) Eliminate current portfolio provision to outsource evaluation
   Current policy provides for credit through evaluation by an accredited college or university with which Oakton has contracted to provide certification of college course equivalencies through portfolio evaluation.

4) Create new approaches to award credit for prior learning, through Oakton faculty affirming:
   a. Successful completion of a higher level course in a sequence
   b. The student has knowledge and skills of an Oakton course (based on evidence)
   c. Credit through proficiency as determined through ROADMath, Oakton's developmental math courses
   d. Learning from non-credit courses, continuing education, professional training, licensing or similar learning alternatives
   e. Evidence in portfolio

5) Revise and use a common format for all forms
6) Create appropriate information, internal & external, regarding prior learning assessment (PLA)
7) Adopt a new fee schedule
8) Create banner codes to permit more careful tracking of revenues

Recommendations Portfolio Assessment (Specifically)

9) Terminate participation in CAFHS I learning Counts in fall 2013
10) Assign the Assistant Dean of Academic Affairs responsibility for implementation

Recommendations Portfolio Assessment (Specifically)

11) Two workshops for students interested in portfolio assessment;
    Overview – 1 hour, free Portfolio Preparation – optional, approximately 20 contact hours, teach students how to prepare portfolio, have them create a portfolio. $100 fee recommended which includes workshop and assessment of one portfolio.

12) Faculty Assessor Workshop:
    Training workshop for faculty assessors. Faculty assessors, full and part-time faculty, must successfully complete the workshop before assessing portfolios.

13) Faculty assessor compensation:
    Assessors will be compensated the full-time faculty substitute pay rate for each course for which a student is seeking credit through portfolio assessment.
Recommendations
Portfolio Assessment (Specifically)

14) Launch with focus on six CTE programs:
- Computer Information Systems (CIS);
- Fire Science (FIR);
- Graphic Design (GRD);
- Human Services (HSV);
- Law Enforcement (LAE);
- Nursing (NUR)

15) Specific recommendations regarding portfolios:
- A portfolio is compilation of evidence in a specific discipline
- $50 assessment fee for each portfolio
- Student must identify the Oakton course(s) for which credit is being sought
- Assessments will be done by faculty in the discipline who have successfully completed the faculty assessor workshop

- Faculty may determine the portfolio provides evidence of learning in additional or other courses in the discipline beyond the one(s) identified by the student submitting the portfolio
- The faculty assessor(s) will provide feedback to the student

16) Portfolio resubmissions:
- A student may resubmit the portfolio one time for no additional fee
- The student may resubmit only for the courses for which credit was not approved
- The resubmission must take place within three months after the original portfolio was returned to student
- A portfolio resubmitted after this period will be considered a new portfolio and portfolio assessment fee will be charged.

Portfolio Process for Students

See “Process for Portfolio Assessment,” p. 9 in proposal

Suggested Timeline

Launch Fall 2013
See pp. 10-11 in Proposal for details
Next Steps

1) Feedback to Prior Learning Assessment Team
   Send to tbers@oakton.edu by November 29

2) Submit revised policies to Board of Trustees (spring)

3) Implement PLA team and Vice President of Academic Affairs will collaborate to determine who will take lead on various implementation steps.
Appendix B

I understand that Oakton College reserves the right to review the evidence of learning outcomes achieved through prior learning, to determine Oakton course equivalencies for this prior learning, to evaluate the extent to which evidence indicates knowledge and skills commensurate with those expected of a student earning a C in the course(s), and to award Oakton credit accordingly. Some programs may require a minimal grade of “A” or “B” for alternate credit to be awarded. I further understand that submission of evidence does not in any way obligate the College to award credit.

Therefore, provision is made for students with wide varieties of educational experiences to convert their experiences into college credit on the basis of demonstrated evidence of their having achieved learning objectives, knowledge and skills equivalent to those expected of a student successfully completing the equivalent course at Oakton.
